Upper Mill Creek Conservation Corridor

State Route 747 to the Township line

A 300-acre wetland park following the Mill Creek and the former Miami Erie canal from State Route 747 to the Township line and connecting with the Gilmore Ponds Interpretive Preserve in Fairfield.

The Corridor features the 1.55-mile paved Port Union Historic Canal Trail from State Route 747 to the Township boundary. The 10-foot wide multi-purpose trail can accommodate bicycles, roller blades, walkers, and joggers and is handicapped accessible.

The Corridor preserves historical features relating to the canal including and aquaduct, waste weir, the foundation of an icehouse and ice ponds. It is a scenic, natural area and is home to many important plant, animal and bird species. The Corridor also preserves important floodplain property protecting the Mill Creek and allowing it to take a more natural course without flooding surrounding properties.

The Upper Mill Creek Conservation Corridor project is a collaborative effort made possible by support from the Clean Ohio Fund, the Ohio EPA, The Butler County Commissioners, West Chester Township, The Butler County Engineers Office, Butler County Environmental Services, The Mill Creek Restoration Project and property owners.
